Report
Name of Activity	Poster Making Competition on My Health, My Right (World Health Day)
Date	April 11 th , 2024
Venue	MIMT Campus
Participants	19 students
Organizing Team	Dr Ashutosh Gaur
Objectives	Promote awareness and knowledge of a particular health issue or theme related to World Health Day by creating visually attractive posters for a competition.
Content	MBA students, under Dr. Ashutosh Gaur's oversight, arranged a lively poster competition to honor World Health Day with the subject "My Health, My Right." The goal was to raise awareness and understanding about the significance of healthcare as a basic human right. The posters were designed to be visually appealing and convey powerful messages to spark discussions on health equity and healthcare access. The students effectively conveyed the idea of the universal right to health through creative expression and thoughtful design. The event promoted teamwork, demonstrating the students' dedication to campaigning for fair healthcare systems. The campaign effectively raised awareness and encouraged individuals to assert their right to health on a worldwide level.
Outcome of Activity	The MBA students' activity was highly successful as they demonstrated exceptional ingenuity in raising awareness of health rights through visually impactful posters. The competition generated substantial participation and initiated important conversations regarding healthcare as an essential human entitlement. The posters successfully communicated the topic "My Health, My Right," encouraging people to support fair access to healthcare. The exercise provided students with a great platform to create a good effect on World Health Day and motivate change in their communities.
